ATLANTA, March 1, 2011—Atlantic Trust has been recognized by Private Asset Management magazine as the Best Private Wealth Manager in Overall Client Service among firms with more than $5 billion in assets under management.

Atlantic Trust was selected by an independent panel of industry experts as part of the recently announced Private Asset Management 2011 Awards. The panel judged each applicant on key criteria including financial progress and stability, growth in clients and internal hires, client satisfaction and industry innovation.

“This award is a significant accomplishment and reflects Atlantic Trust’s unwavering dedication and commitment to our clients,” said Jack Markwalter, chairman and CEO of Atlantic Trust.

Private Asset Management, which exclusively covers the wealth management and family office industries, described the winners of this year's awards as having successfully serviced high-net-worth individuals in an increasingly complex economic environment and proved to have true ability in all seasons.

Such recognition builds on the strong momentum Atlantic Trust takes into 2011, following a year that featured:

- Record growth, with $1 billion in positive net flows
- Talent additions, with 13 senior hires
- 30 speaker series events in 18 cities across the country
- Competitive investment performance

“Clearly, 2010 was a record year for new clients and new assets, due primarily to our position as an objective, trusted advisor,” said Eric Propper, CFA, president and COO of Atlantic Trust.

“We’re very fortunate to have a deep wealth-planning platform, a forward-thinking investment team and a stable corporate parent in Invesco Ltd.

“The combination of these qualities is attracting highly qualified professionals to our firm for the benefit of our clients. We expect this circle of growth to continue in 2011.”

Several key initiatives are already underway for 2011. The speaker series events continue, where experts challenge long-held assumptions about investing and explore opportunities to generate income and grow capital in today’s market. Estate planning opportunities are also an important area of focus following Congress’ dramatic eleventh-hour extension of the Bush-era income tax cuts and the changes to the estate tax laws that were more generous than most experts expected.

Additionally, Atlantic Trust recently completed the future state vision and strategy for optimizing client service and enhancing the client experience through investments in next generation Private Wealth Management technology, with implementation scheduled to begin in the coming months.
